

History of AFRW

In 1920, under the guidance of a most interesting and energetic lady, Mrs. J. L. B. Alexander, a small group of women met weekly for the purpose of “study and promotion of the American system of government as exemplified in the Republican Party principles and candidates.”

The group was originally known at the Women’s Republican League. In 1924, a formal constitution and bylaws were adopted which makes the Arizona Federation of Republican Women the third oldest Republican Women’s Federation in the nation.
